Overview

A goal kick is a method of restarting play.

A goal kick is awarded when the whole ball passes over the goal line, either on the ground or in the air, having last touched a player from the attacking team and when a goal has not been scored.

Overview

A goal may be scored directly from a goal kick, but only against the opposing team.

An attacking player cannot be offside if the ball is received directly from the goal kick.

Procedure

To restart play, the ball is placed anywhere within the Goal Area.

All opposing players must remain outside the Penalty Area until the ball is in play.

The ball is in play as soon as it is kicked and leaves the Penalty Area.

A colorful illustration of a soccer game in progress. The field is green with white boundary lines. A goal is on the left. Several children are playing: one in a purple shirt is kicking the ball, another in a green shirt is near the goal, and others are scattered across the field. A soccer ball is in the air near the center. The scene is lively and captures a moment of action during the game.

Infringements

If the ball is not kicked directly out of the penalty area then the goal kick is retaken.

If, after the ball has left the penalty area, the kicker touches the ball again before it has touched another player an indirect free kick (IFK) is awarded to the opposing team, to be taken from the place where the infringement occurred.

The goal kick is retaken for any other infringement, such as an opponent entering the penalty area after the ball is kicked, but before it leaves the penalty area.

Procedure

Because small sided and recreational youth games can have different field sizes and field markings, officials should be aware of any local rules of competition that may modify the standard goal kick procedure.

9-U and 10-U (7v7)

- The opposing players must move outside the Build-Out Area on all goal kicks;
- Ball is back in play when the ball leaves the penalty area;
- After the ball is put back in play, the opposing team can cross the Build-Out Line and enter the opponent's Build-Out Area and play resumes as normal.

9-U and 10-U (7v7)

Opponents who enter into the Build-Out Area before the ball is put back into play are guilty of encroachment and should be admonished accordingly.

Play should be stopped and an IFK restart taken at the spot of the encroachment.

Player Management

Time wasting tactics can take place at the taking of a goal kick, usually when the winning team has the lead late in the game.

Upon being awarded a goal kick, the kicking team should not waste time by placing the ball within the goal area in preparation for the restart and then unnecessarily moving it to another location.

Player Management

Referees should consider issuing a warning and then may show a yellow card for delaying the restart of play, if the team does it again.

Referees should be aware of this tactic and use preventive techniques to keep the game flowing and to avoid issuing cautions if possible.
